Instructions for Measuring All Carnivores

Instructions

Measurements are taken with calipers or by using parallel perpendiculars, to the nearest one-sixteenth of an inch, without reduction of fractions. All adhering flesh, membrane and cartilage must be completely removed before measurements are taken.

1. Greatest Length is measured between perpendiculars parallel to the long axis of the skull, without the lower jaw excluding malformations.
2. Greatest Width is measured between perpendiculars at right angles to the long axis.
